

The Law Practice Management Program

of the
State Bar of Texas

Dear Readers,

We are unveiling a fresh, new look for our newsletter, The Practice Manager. We felt the previous model had served its purpose, so we decided to liven it up, put it online, and make it more interactive! You'll still find the same useful, practical information, just in a more attractive format. You will also now be able to comment on the articles and search our past newsletter archives!

Two new columns this month focus on disaster recovery after Ike and converting text to spoken word on the computer. Click on the link below to check it out:

We are considering adding new features and are always open to our reader's suggestions. If you should have an idea for a nifty new column / feature that you feel would greatly benefit other readers, leave us a comment or send us an email at lomp@texasbar.com, because we do value our members' input and often that is what helps shape our programs, products and services.

In addition to this, LPM is busy lining up its upcoming webcasts, law school initiative programs, and educational CLE programs. We are particularly focusing on our live 2-day course, Perfecting Your Practice: Staying Competitive, Working Smarter, and Improving Your Bottom Line. It will be held in Houston on February 5-6, 2009 at the Westin Galleria. If you would like more information about this course, please visit the info site: <http://perfectingyourpractice.blogspot.com>.

Also, be sure to check our website regularly as we are continually adding course listings to the calendar and courses to our online classroom – www.TexasBarLPM.com.

Thank you! We are looking forward to receiving your feedback about the new look of our newsletter!
